"We love to come to the office. Everyone working here feels very productive, and...we got sixty new fully paid patients after just one month of our opening!"

P. Incampo, DMD PC

"One of our extremely anxious patients called in for an emergency appointment. We were quite concerned and watchful when he came in and waited for one and one half hours. Yet, when he finally came into the treatment room he was whistling and calm. He could not believe it himself, nor us! I say it was the Feng Shui designed environment you helped us create. Thank you, Lidia!"

K. McPartland, DMD

"After your visit a neighbor came over and noticed the 'new paint job' in the foyer. You know we didn't paint! Even outsiders sensed the change in energy at the front door. Thank you!"

A Typical On-site Consultation

Our Feng Shui Philosophy

Feng Shui is an ancient Oriental art aimed at improving every aspect of your life by enhancing your living and/or working space according to time tested principles of harmony and energy flow.

A Feng Shui analysis should yield a new way of understanding how your home environment influences your work, your relationships, your health, and just about any aspect of your life.

In an office environment, a retail space, a school, a hospital or any work related situation, the client should be able to discover the connection between obstacles in the physical space and recurring difficulties in the financial, creative and human relations aspect of the business.

By implementing the suggestions of the consultant you can achieve a living/working environment that can help you gain the success, happiness and abundance that you deserve.

Am I happy with my job?

The tradition of red envelopes is reviewed and the consultation then begins with the use of an energetic grid called the Bagua. This grid is placed upon the lot, the house/office plan and each room or office.

Over 60 different elements are evaluated, during this process which lasts a minimum of 2 hours, but in general no more than 3 hours.

Have I experienced unexpected monetary losses?

The analysis takes into account the occupants' personal energies, the lot, the neighborhood, previous tenants/owners, the placement of doors, windows, furniture, colors, textures, shapes, as well as anecdotal information when making suggestions such as adding, moving or removing some furniture and/or accessories, painting or reconsidering the usage of the specific areas within the structure.

Am I getting along with the important people in my life?

The initial consultation will attempt to solve the most pressing issues. A follow up is recommended after the changes have been enacted, or if additional issues occur, but generally not earlier than 6 months after the initial visit.

Do I feel tense in certain areas of the work environment?

Lidia Scher's consultation practices are based primarily on Black Sect Feng Shui, according to the teachings of HH Grandmaster Professor Lin Yun. Ms Scher also incorporates 9-Star Ki or Feng Shui

Astrology to assist her in determining the optimal location within the space for the clients to maximize their personal potential. In addition she examines the energy of the cardinal directions as they affect the placement of the building or the particular layout of the outdoor spaces surrounding the client's structure.
